

Flooring Tatami for Tea Ceremony

Specially designed Tatami Mats with Removable Sunken Hearth for IH heater

Our newly developed tatami mats can transform your room into a beautiful tea ceremony room with our sunken hearth for IH heater.

The thickness of tatami mats is the same as that of sunken hearth (14cm or 5.5 inch).

As there is no difference in height between tatami mats and the frame of hearth, you can perform Otemae, or tea-ceremony just like a normal sunken hearth.

You may think it is hard to have an authentic tea room, however, our flooring tatami mats make it possible for you to have full-scale tea practices and tea ceremonies even if you live in an apartment.

Patent pending: No.2020-203707

#01 Features of Removable Sunken Hearth for IH heater

- ✧ As there is no difference in level between our tatami mats and the sunken hearth, you don't need to build a sunken hearth into the floor.
- ✧ Anyone can practice Chado (tea-ceremony) with Ro (sunken hearth) readily at home.
- ✧ You can practice Chado with Kyoma size tatami regardless of size of a room.
- ✧ Quality Chashitsume (64 weaves) is available.
- ✧ New lightweight materials offer you easy installation and removal work. Your legs are less likely to numb on these tatami mats.
- ✧ All lineups are produced by artisans and high-quality igusa (rush) from Kumamoto, Japan.

The thickness (14cm or 5.5 inch) of tatami mats is the same as that of sunken hearth for IH.

There is no difference in height between tatami mats and the frame of hearth.

There is a groove for a power cord in the bottom of a tatami mat.

You can pile them up when not in use
